

(L-R) Joseph A. Bryant of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Care of the Alabama Health Department, discuss the WIC program, and Dr. Clay Wells, chief of the Elba WIC program.

Elba's WIC Program Praised For Contributions

The Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children in operation at Elba is one of three under the direction of Kenneth R. Ball, Health Services Administrator of Coffee and Geneva Counties, that are being praised as leaders in the Southeast.

Joseph R. Bryant, of the Southeast regional WIC office, points to the three programs as leaders in the Southeast in fulfilling the objectives of the program as outlined by Congress when the WIC program was created in 1972.

The WIC program provides iron-fortified cereals, eggs, fresh milk and juices to pregnant women, nursing mothers, infants and children who have been examined and approved by the health department. To become eligible, applicants must be examined and found to be nutritional risks because of poor diets or other reasons.

Administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service in cooperation with the Coffee County Health Department, the project at Elba serves over 700 people with an annual budget of around $275,000. Each recipient receives an average of $24 worth of food monthly.

Bryant feels that the success of the programs are due to Director Ball, the coordinator of the programs in both counties, Mrs. Ann Edwards, and the dedicated staff. Mrs. Kay Whitworth, secretary, and Miss Rita Hughes, nurse.

Instead of being just another food assistance program, WIC's efforts are coupled with those of the health department. All applicants are given a physical examination - he most important feature being a blood test, a history of spontaneous abortion, low birth weight and inadequate growth pattern are items also noted when considering applicants for the WIC program.

The Elba WIC program has been accepted as a valuable aid in raising the health standards of the community, according to Ball. Already its quota has been filled and there is a waiting list. "I am enthused over the WIC program," says Ball, "because it is designed to prevent mental retardation, deaths of mothers during childbirth and the numerous diseases caused by malnutrition."

Dr. Clay Wells, director of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Care of the Alabama Health Department, shares Ball's enthusiasm for the WIC program.

In his opinion, the special foods that are dispensed to the women and children by WIC are merely the top of the iceberg when it comes to assessing the real value of the program.

For one thing, he explained, in the past far too many women never realized the importance of visiting the health center for prenatal care. Too often they waited until the third trimester of their pregnancies.

Now, with WIC as an incentive, they are coming to the center during the first three months of their pregnancies.

As a result, any diseases or problems are detected early and promptly corrected. Because of this, there has been a remarkable decline in the number of cases of toxemia, kidney poisoning and other diseases common to pregnant women who have neglected their health.

Ball agrees with Dr. Wells when he says that one of the most valuable dividends of the program is the change in attitude of women about health care. Once they come to the health center to inquire about WIC and become involved in the various tests, they are impressed with the concern of the health center personnel.

How does WIC operate? The staff at Elba is quick to respond to all pregnant women, nursing mothers and children who feel that they have deficiencies that would make them eligible are urged to inquire about the program at the health center.

Women applicants are given an in-depth interview after which they are weighed and given a blood test. If approved, the applicant is given a monthly supply of vouchers. Each of them is dated to prevent buying ahead.

Children applying for WIC are also given physical examinations which includes blood tests, head measurements, heights and weights. Miss Hughes also compiles a history of their health problems which includes diseases they have had.

Children from one to five years of age are allotted the same amount of food as pregnant women and nursing mothers.

A mother is eligible for special foods until six months after the birth of her child. If she breast feeds the child, she is eligible for an additional six months.

Dr. Wells feels that from one to two years is not sufficient time to make an accurate assessment of the WIC program, but he is confident that the good effects of WIC will be in evidence for many years to come. Brain cells, he points out, develop to 75% before the birth of the baby and the remainder from six to nine months. Consequently, a large percentage of retardation among children can be prevented by proper diets.

Both he and Ball felt that of the greatest benefits of the WIC program is attracting women to health centers, winning their confidence and educating them on the value of health care.

This includes, he said, good nutrition, family planning, and simple good health habits.

Both Ball and Mrs. Edwards are natives of Alabama. Ball was trained in Geneva County and received his degree in Science of Environmental Sanitation from Troy University.

Mrs. Edwards is a native of Huntsville and has spent her life in public health. She once served with the Ethiopian Children's Nutrition Institute in Addis Ababa. It was here that she saw at first hand the devastating effects of malnutrition.

Mrs. Anne Edwards, coordinator of WIC programs in Geneva and Coffee Counties, look at nutrition posters on bulletin board.

Elba Band Returns From Summer Clinic

The Elba Marching Tiger Band returned to Elba Saturday afternoon, August 14th after a very productive week of band camp at Livingston University. Each day began when band members were awakened by chaperones at 5:00 a.m. They reported to the practice field at 6:00 a.m. and worked until 7:00. Breakfast was served from 7:00 until 8:00 then the group reported to the practice field where they again worked from 8:00 until 12:00 with a short mid-morning break. Lunch was served and then the group was off to the music room where they worked until approximately 2:30.

Free time was given from 2:30 until 4:45. Swimming, tennis and ping-pong were available but most band members chose to go to those nice air conditioned rooms and rest. Supper was served at 4:45 and rehearsals began again at 6:00 on the practice field. From 8:30 until 10:00 the group was in the music room working on music then back to the dorms for baths and "lights out" at 11:15.

This schedule varied on Friday night when practice was cut short and the band was given a pool party and allowed to use recreation facilities in the University's Student Union.

Maxwell Named Assistant Band Director

Brian Maxwell has been recently added to the staff of Elba High School as assistant band director. Mr. Maxwell comes to Elba from Taylorsville, Miss. where he served as band director. His hometown is East Palestine, Ohio. Mr. Maxwell is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a Bachelor of Music Education Degree. He was a member of Southern's Marching Band and Symphonic Band for four years. He served as percussion section leader for two years with the USM Marching Band and one year with their Symphonic Band. Mr. Maxwell was a member of Kappa Kappa Psi Fraternity for four years. He was a member of the University Activities Council. He currently holds membership with the Percussion Arts Society and National Education Association.

Members of the Elba High School Marching Tiger Band attended a pre-season band clinic on the West Alabama campus of Livingston University. Section leaders and band directors at Elba High

Sam DeVane, and Brian Maxwell, assistant director. The band members used LU facilities to prepare fall marching routines. The clinic was held from August 9-13.

Dickinson Talks To Supporters

Congressman Bill Dickinson spoke to members of the Coffee County chapter of the 2nd District Congressional Club in an Entenrie restaurant last week. He gave the members a report on pending legislation in Washington and answered questions from the group.

Approximately twenty people from Elba attended the event. Dickinson pointed out that the Coffee County chapter is the largest club in the 2nd congressional district, surpassing Montgomery County by two members.

Champion Tells Rotary Of Athletic Plans

Elba Athletic Director and football coach Mac Champion was the guest speaker at the Elba Rotary Club on Monday of this week. Champion presented by Rotarian Elmer Taylor.

Champion told the group some of his long range dreams for the Elba and reported on the status of the football program for the season which begins August 27. He noted that the 1976 Elba squad is the smallest in number and in size he has coached in his seventeen years of coaching. Champion noted that there is not a boy on the team that weighs over 200 pounds and including the injured only thirty boys are on the roster. Yet Champion expressed confidence that "we are going to surprise some folks."

OPERATION SANTA NEEDS MORE TOYS

The Pilot Club and police department are beginning to make preparations for the 1976 Operation Santa Claus. If anyone has any toys, they should be brought by the police station. Any type toys, good or broken, will be appreciated.

for new doctors has become quite positive in parts of the country during the last several years.

Dr. Boyce is expected to arrive in Elba during the latter part of September.

Fire Plugs-Pressure Tackled By W&E Board

The Elba Water and Electric Board gave a favorable nod to a proposal by water manager Don Weeks on a $10,000 improvement project. Weeks completed a report requested by the board several weeks ago on the need for additional fire plugs and the need for increased water pressure in several areas of town.

The board gave unanimous approval to plans to add ten fire plugs in critical areas and to construct 1,200 feet of water line to increase water pressure to residents of Seminole Avenue. The board had previously approved a project to increase pressure on Smith Avenue.

Areas to get additional plugs costing a total of $1,300 for the plugs and pipe alone are: Smith Avenue, Old Samson Road, Middle School, Kinston Highway and in Brookdale. Included in this will be 2,400 feet of pipe to be used in the Middle School area and 2,100 feet of pipe in the Kinston Highway area (behind Free's Store).

Weeks estimated it would take about four months for existing crews to complete this work and other normal repairs. In other business the board approved having two men on hand by for repairs instead of the present one man. This was as a safety factor in case one man got into trouble, the other could help or summons help.

The policy of who was to pay for a service man's charges if a user called one and found the trouble was that of the utility department was discussed. A report will be made.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrie Cox

The Republican convention is in full swing as this is being written. Tuesday night my family and I watched the voting on the much publicized 16-c amendment being pushed by the Reagan forces. I was being loyal to President Ford and therefore against the change but did run into a bit of trouble with my family. As the voting got close Betty and our two oldest children were cheering with every YES vote and moaning with the NO votes. It didn't make for peaceful relations for me to keep saying the NO voters would win and as soon as the NO voters did win, the whole family marched off to bed without another word on the convention.

I find myself agreeing with the pretty blond female delegate who didn't mind the rule change but compared it to a game of checkers when someone keeps changing the rules in the middle of the game to benefit his or her respective position. By the time this paper reaches the readers the Republican nominee will be selected and right now I can't find a person who still believes Reagan can win the nomination. Now maybe if he will accept the VP spot . . .

Ray Trammell has decided to withdraw from the run-off election, allowing Dad English to assume the City Council seat without further politicking. English will take his seat at the first meeting in October as will John W. Sharpless and any others elected on September 14.

Last week I was apparently rushing Jimmy and Mary Holley on their trip to London. While I thought they had already gone, Mary was walking around Elba Thursday morning and both were at a meeting I attended in Enterprise Thursday night. Well, anyway they are gone now (I think). I guess ye ole editor was envious of them for winning a trip and me not winning one also.

I took a bit of static last Thursday on my ability to predict just who would be in the run-off. It seems some of my "friends" think they could do as well as me when they don't tell their opinion until AFTER the election. Now that just ain't fair, editors catch enough flak without getting it from fishing associates!

Our city politics are warming up a bit for the run-off. We are hearing some wild promises reportedly coming from one candidate or another. Some of them sound good to us all, but we remember that not even Superman could do these things by himself in our democratic society - it takes a majority vote to do ANYTHING. When we approach any of the candidates with the wild promise they are accused of making, the candidate quickly denies making the promise, which is just as well, because most of the tales are an insult to the intelligence of the voters of Elba.

The clinic building for Elba's new Dr. Boyce is not officially under construction. I think this is great! The money (every penny) is being furnished by the local banks and National Security, the doctor will make lease payments to pay off the loan and in the end the building will be owned by the hospital board (taxpayers of Elba) and the taxpayers will not be required to put up one penny of the money.

Ye ole editor was offered a chance to get some "inside info" on the arson investigation in Opp this week but declined. Right now we have enough undone things locally to keep us busy for many weeks. However I share the opinion of a friend in Opp who said the investigation was long overdue. He had no comments on the individuals who have been charged in the so called arson ring but noted that it was common knowledge that some such group did exist.

The expression "on the nose," signifying exactly on time, is believed to have originated in the broadcasting studio where the producer signals to performers by putting his finger on his nose when the program is running to schedule time.

THANK YOU

from
Ben Carpenter

Councilman Place #5

It is with deep appreciation that I thank the people of Elba in allowing me the opportunity to serve as councilman for the past four years.

Your vote for me August 10th was indeed appreciated by me, Sandra, and my entire family. We join in asking you to go back to the polls on September 14th and cast your vote.

The past four years have not been an easy task. However, the knowledge and experience gained will, I feel, prove to be an invaluable asset in allowing me to serve another term.

I pledge to do the job you intrust to me to the best of my ability.

Balanced Budget, Bankruptcy Called Options

It costs more than half as much today to pay the annual interest on the federal debt as was spent to operate the entire federal government for a year during World War II, according to Sen. Jesse Helms.

In a recent issue of Dollars & Sense, published by the National Taxpayers Union, the North Carolina Republican charged that "unwise, unworkable and often corrupt federal programs" are major factors contributing to the problem of skyrocketing federal spending.

He specifically mentioned recent disclosures of abuses of the food stamp program and he attacked those who protest cutting back these welfare programs and returning them to the local and state levels "so they can be operated more efficiently and less expensively."

He challenged these critics to do one of two things: "Explain to the American people how they propose to balance the federal budget, and cut our wasteful federal spending; or . . . explain how the United States can avoid bankruptcy if we fail to balance the budget."

Wayne Parker and Mitch Mad-dox are shown holding 25 1/2 lbs. of bass and catfish they caught in a private pond Sunday.

Blue Morrow is shown holding an 8 1/2 lb. catfish caught in Pea River Monday. Blue first told a story of catching the monster on a small broom pole, four-pound test line, number 8 hooks and crickets but finally settled for the truth - the fish was caught in a basket Blue and brother Bert were working Monday afternoon.

College Pre-Season Round-Up

By: Mike Capps

This year's college football season almost upon us with no team supreme in the eye of the pre-season forecasters. Four of the most respected prognosticators have picked different teams for the top spot. Nebraska, Ohio State, Alabama, and Georgia have all got the nod in the different polls. Ohio State and Southern California picked one and two by Street and Smith's were not named in the top twenty in Football Roundup's poll. Two of the big surprises could be California and Georgia Tech. California often an also ran in the Pacific Eight is picked to dethrone UCLA and make a run for the roses. The Rambling Reck picked as the top southern independent.

Alabama seems to be the pick for top honors in the SEC followed closely by Georgia. Picked to take the top spot if Alabama or Georgia falters is Florida. Ole Miss or Tennessee. The five other teams could move up with any breaks or schedule luck. The key game could be the Alabama-Georgia match-up October 2 in Athens.

If SEC teams are to improve on last year's record against non-conference schools they must be in mid-season form for their first game. Georgia opens up with high-ly rated California, LSU tangles with powerhouse Nebraska, and Vanderbilt battles National Champion Oklahoma. The top conference game will be Alabama battling upstart Ole Miss in Jackson.

Troy State opens 1976 with a completely new look. The Trojans will have a new coach, new quarterback, new offensive line and a tougher schedule. Troy opens up with Angelo State September 4 in Dothan and then goes on the road to face National runner-up Western Kentucky.

Bright spots for Troy are pass receivers, running backs, and a proven defense. Perry Griggs and Billy Dixon give the Trojans two of the best receivers and kick returners in the state. Ron Daniels and Sullivan Walker are blue chip prospects at running back.

Defensively, NAIA All-American Rick Masey is one of nine returning starters. Looking at this year's schedule it will be hard for the Trojans to improve on last year's 6-4 record.

MOTOR POOL

BY: GREG BRUNSON CLIPPER RACING ADVISOR

Twin City Speedway proved to be an action filled race this past Saturday night, as Dave Mader III, bred to his 7th straight feature race victory.

The Late-Model-Sportsman feature race showed C. L. Fisher jump into the lead and hold it for quite a few laps until Mader took over. Fisher then went out with a tire trouble which gave Mader free sailing. Tom Knowles, Jerome Harbert, and Lamar Halford followed Mader to the checkered flag in this 25 lap event.

Mader also posted victories in the Helmet Dash, that being over C. L. Fisher, and the L-M-S fast heat race. The second race was finished with Jerome Harbert second, C. L. Fisher third, and Kirby Smith in fourth.

The other L-M-S event was the slow heat race which was 10 laps long. After three restarts due to spin-outs, Tom Knowles took the lead on the first green flag and held it for all 10 laps. Tom was followed to the finish line by Lamar Halford, Neal Bravton, and Freddie Wayne McCall.

The Hobby Class cars had three big races for the night, and the first one was the slow heat. Wayne Adcock took the checkered flag by a narrow margin. Dennis Kelley finished second by passing J. B. Scott on the fourth turn of the last lap. The next race was the fast heat which was led for the first 5 laps by Darrell

Hanks, until Phil Cox took over on the last lap for the victory. Hanks, Hayward Saulter, and Joe Smith rounded out the top four in this race.

The last Hobby Class race was the feature race which had 12 big entries. Dennis Kelley went from the pole position to the front of the pack where he stayed for the first two laps. Hayward Saulter took control of the race for the last 10 laps and the victory. Dennis Kelley, racing in the second feature race of his career, finished a close second followed by Wayne Adcock, J. B. Scott, and Joe Smith.

Racing will continue thru Labor Day weekend at Twin City Speedway. Everyone should come out to the track these next 3 weekends, and see the most exciting type action in South Alabama.
